Footprints of our faith collection

2015.3.23

The completed collection of Footprints of our Faith in epub format “to come close to our Lord through the pages of the Holy Gospel, I always recommend you to try and get inside each scene and take part in it like another of the people there” (Friends of God, 222). Benedict XVI recalled how the Holy Land has sometimes been called “the fifth Gospel”. Because Jesus was born at a definite time and in a real place, in a strip of land at the edge of the Roman Empire. In that land our Lord lived and died for all men.

This collection will help to make the places where Christ lived on earth more widely known and will also serve as useful guide to those who are able to visit the Holy Places for themselves.
