In the years that I knew him

2010.4.30

“In the years that I knew him, I smiled and laughed non-stop with St Josemaria, the founder of Opus Dei. Knowing that he was a son of God; knowing that he was in God’s tender, powerful hands; loving created things passionately, starting with people, and also admiring all the good things people are capable of doing... all of that filled his soul with a joy that was mysteriously compatible with the great sufferings that God also permits in the lives of his saints.”
