

Maria and her story

The children ran into the kitchen and begged:

"Maria, tell us the story!"

And Maria the cook started yet again on the only story she knew: a story about some robbers.

"Once upon a time... there were some robbers, big, fierce ones..."

The children's eyes were round and scared and they listened to every word. Maria acted out the story so well it always sounded new. She had a great imagination!